DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings were received on March 28th, 2006. These drawings are not completely accepted:

Regarding the changes made to Figure 3, the new figure does not match with the detailed specification for the following reasons.

STV2 needs to be extended further down to connect with the third bus line from the left in order to supply element 240;

Element 220 should contain switches SW1 through SW29 corresponding to shift registers SR2 through SR30; and Element 240 should contain switches SW30 through SW58 corresponding to shift registers SR32 through SR60.

SR32 should look exactly like SR1 in that it has two inputs STV2 and CPV.

The output of SR30 cannot be connected to the input OES cause it would create a signal conflict.

Amendments to all other figures are accepted.

Specification

The amendment filed November 27th, 2006 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows:

The newly amendments to paragraphs [0034] and [0035] are not supported by the original disclosure. Specifically all second shift register should be referred to as second shift register SR31-SR60. Second SR31 is not part of the first shift register group which consists of shift registers SR1-SR30. Third, SW30 does not switch to an output terminal of the shift register SR32 instead it provides the input for SR32 not shift register SR31 as stated in the specification.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Regarding Claim 2, the claim recites the limitation "wherein the active address interval is substantially equivalent to being driven at 85 Hz when a refresh rate is 60 Hz". However there is no support for such a limitation in the detailed specification and no explanation of how the device would operate under such a limitation. The well known definition of frequency in the art is how many times a full period of a signal is repeated during a fixed time period, usually one second. And according to the detailed specification the refresh rate is 60 Hz which is controlled by the V_sync which has a full period of 16.7ms (Fig. 6), and the active address interval is driven at 60 Hz as well which is controlled by the CPV which has a full period of 16.7ms (11.2ms + 5.5 ms) the same as the V_sync (Fig. 6). Further according to the detailed specification the refresh rate as well as the active address interval must be synced with one another in order for the display to be operable.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1 and 3-10 are allowed.

Regarding independent Claim 1, prior art (Nose, Fig. 13) teaches all limitations of the claim except a current boosting section for increasing current amount supplied to the gate bus lines during the vertical blanking period interval in response to a pulse width modulation signal. It is noted that prior art does show a current boosting section responsive to a pulse width modulation signal. However said current boosting section is not used to supply gate bus lines and is not operational during a vertical blanking period as claimed.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
